

Dissertation Citations

Baums, Iliana B. 2004. Genetic status of the Caribbean reef-building coral, Acropora palmata. University of Miami (USA), 124 pp.

Becker, Bonnie J. 2005. The regional population variability and larval connectivity of mytilid mussels: Conserving the populations of Cabrillo National Monument (San Diego, California, USA). University of California at San Diego (USA), 232 pp.

Bishop, Melanie J. 2003. Making waves: The effects of boat-wash on macrobenthic assemblages of estuaries. University of Sydney (Australia), 248 pp.

Bowen, Jennifer L. 2005. Couplings of watersheds to estuaries: Inputs, transport, and management of nitrogen from different sources. Boston University (USA), 259 pp.

Bracken, Matthew E. 2003. Linking marine communities and ecosystems: Invertebrates mediate nutrient availability in intertidal communities. Oregon State University (USA), 103 pp.

Brown, Bryan L. 2004. The influence of habitat heterogeneity on variability in stream macroinvertebrate communities. Dartmouth College (USA), 139 pp.

Cohen, Jonathan H. 2004. Visual sensitivity and diel vertical migration of the marine copepod Calanopia americana. Duke University (USA), 282 pp.

Demopoulos, Amanda WJ. 2004. Aliens in paradise: A comparative assessment of introduced and native mangrove benthic community composition, food-web structure, and litter-fall production. University of Hawaii (USA), 252 pp.

Dissertation Citations

Feagin, Rusty A. 2003. The spatial aspect of plant interactions in a sand dune plant community. Texas A & M University at College Station (USA), 65 pp.

Ghisalberti, Marco A. 2005. Momentum and scalar transport in vegetated shear flows. Massachusetts Institute of Technology (USA), 119 pp.

Grigg, Nicola J. 2003. Benthic bulldozers and pumps: Laboratory and modelling studies of bioturbation and bioirrigation. Australian National University (Australia), 196 pp.

Guest, Michaela A. 2004. Movement and assimilation of carbon by estuarine invertebrates. Griffith University (Australia), 135 pp.

Harrison, John A. 2003. Nitrogen dynamics and greenhouse gas production in Yaqui Valley surface drainage waters. Stanford University (USA), 119 pp.

Hendriks, Iris E. 2003. Flow dependent processes in settlement of intertidal bivalve larvae. University of Groningen (Netherlands), 160 pp.

Hiscock, Michael R. 2004. The regulation of primary productivity in the Southern Ocean. Duke University (USA), 174 pp.

Huot, Yannick 2004. Sun-induced fluorescence of phytoplankton in the ocean: Linking physiology and remote sensing. Dalhousie University (Canada), 358 pp.

Dissertation Citations

Kicklighter, Cynthia E. 2003. Antipredation strategies in marine worms: Geographic, ecological, and taxonomic patterns. Georgia Institute of Technology (USA), 156 pp.

Langenheder, Silke 2005. Links between structure and function of heterotrophic aquatic bacterial communities. Uppsala University (Sweden), 64 pp.

Lennon, Jay T. 2004. The energetic importance of terrestrial carbon in lake ecosystems. Dartmouth College (USA), 169 pp.

Longnecker, Krista 2004. Bacterioplankton in the Oregon upwelling system: Distribution, cell-specific leucine incorporation, and diversity. Oregon State University (USA), 192 pp.

Menden-Deuer, Susanne 2004. Linking individual foraging strategies with ecological dynamics: Quantifying zooplankton movements in heterogeneous resource distributions. University of Washington (USA), 201 pp.

Mioni, Cecile E. 2004. Using a bioluminescent bacterial bioreporter to assess iron bioavailability in the Oceans. University of Tennessee (USA), 291 pp.

Moerke, Ashley H. 2004. Landscape influences on stream ecosystems: Implications for restoration and management. University of Notre Dame (USA), 161 pp.

Moller, Eva F. 2004. Roles of arctic marine copepods in the pelagic carbon turnover. University of Aarhus (Denmark), 166 pp.

Dissertation Citations

Muñiz-Salazar, Raquel 2004. Physiological, biochemical and genetic characterization of Zostera marina along Pacific coast of Baja California and Gulf of California. Universidad Autonoma de Baja California at Ensenada (Mexico), 186 pp.

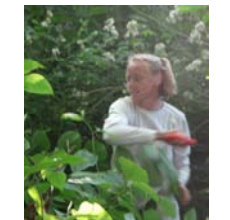

Parks, Susan E. 2003. Acoustic communication in the North Atlantic right whale (Eubalaena glacialis). Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Woods Hole Oceanographic Inst. (USA), 244 pp.

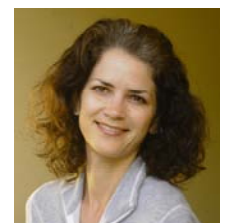

Popels, Linda C. 2003. Investigations into the distribution, dark survival, and detection of Aureococcus anophagefferens. University of Delaware (USA), 115 pp.

Reyns, Nathalie B. 2004. Biophysical dispersal dynamics of the blue crab in Pamlico Sound, North Carolina. North Carolina State University (USA), 246 pp.

Richards, Christina L. 2004. Evolution in closely adjacent salt marsh environments. University of Georgia (USA), 141 pp.

Richoux, Nicole B. 2004. Population dynamics and seasonal lipid cycles in hyperbenthic crustaceans from a cold-ocean environment (Conception Bay, Newfoundland): Mysis mixta (Mysidacea) and Acanthostepheia malmgreni (Amphipoda). Memorial University of Newfoundland (Canada), 173 pp.

Sass, Greg G. 2004. Fish community and food web responses to a whole-lake removal of coarse woody habitat. University of Wisconsin at Madison (USA), 174 pp.

Sebastián, Marta 2004. Alkaline phosphatase activity and its relation to mesoscale features in the NE Atlantic. University of Malaga (Spain), 143 pp.

Dissertation Citations

Spence Cheruvellil, Kendra 2004. Examining lakes at multiple spatial scales: Predicting fish growth, macrophyte cover and lake physio-chemical variables. Michigan State University (USA), 192 pp.

Stewart, Hannah L. 2004. Consequences of stiffness and buoyancy on hydrodynamic forces, light interception and dispersal of a tropical alga. University of California at Berkeley (USA), 170 pp.

Sutor, Malinda M. 2004. Vertical distribution patterns of plankton and their relationship to physical factors over the continental shelf off Oregon. Oregon State University (USA), 297 pp.

Taylor, J. Christopher 2004. Distribution, behavior and trophic interactions of pelagic planktivores and copepods in an intermittently stratified estuary. North Carolina State University (USA), 167 pp.

Tewfik, Alexander 2005. Patterns and effects of disturbance in Caribbean macrophyte communities. McGill University (Canada), 167 pp.

Treude, Tina I. 2004. Anaerobic oxidation of methane in marine sediments. University of Bremen (Germany), 253 pp.

von Dassow, Peter 2003. Regulation of bioluminescence in the dinoflagellate Lingulodinium polyedrum. University of California at San Diego (USA), 262 pp.

Waggett, Rebecca J. 2005. Ecological, biomechanical and neurological correlates of escape behavior in calanoid copepods. University of Texas at Austin (USA), 116 pp.

Dissertation Citations

Willis, Theodore V. 2003. Response of fish communities and populations to intrinsic and extrinsic drivers of north central Wisconsin freshwater lake environments.
University of Wisconsin (USA), 150 pp.

Winter, Christian 2004. Ecological role of planktonic bacteriophages in the North Sea and the tropical Atlantic Ocean.
University of Groningen (Netherlands), 85 pp.

Yamada, Namiha 2004. The source and chemical characterization of dissolved proteins in seawaters.
Nagoya University (Japan), 118 pp.

Yokokawa, Taichi 2004. Growth and grazing mortality of phylogenetically distinct bacterial groups in estuarine and coastal marine environments.
Kyoto University (Japan), 104 pp.